From Archdeacon Greg

“The earth is the Lord’s, and everything in it. The world and all its people belong to God.”

This is the faith expressed in Psalm 24. It begins by proclaiming that the earth belongs to God, including everything and every person in the world. God’s ultimate ownership of the entire earth derives from the fact that God is its creator and sustainer. God values it profoundly. What happens in this world, matters to God.

We honour God the creator by caring for the creation. Our first nation’s people are an inspiration in their relationship with, and care of, the land. In our time, climate change has brought home the reality that the care and respect for creation is the responsibility of all of us. When we seek the best for this world and its people, we are fulfilling our created purpose and serving the earth’s true owner and ultimately caring for one another.

Gracious God, today we are reminded that this earth belongs to you, every bit of it. You created it and care for it. You are redeeming and renewing it. Thank you for this gift and its beauty and bounty. Inspire us to practise an environmentally friendly lifestyle for a healing and fruitful future. Amen.

What image of God in our world of the 21st century, makes sense in our time and place?

This is the question that some parishioners have encouraged me to meet with them to explore. The first gathering will be at 3 to 4-15pm, Thursday 22nd July at Bangalow hall. If you are interested to join in, please notify Anne at the Parish office.
